

Academic Program Assessment Report

Assessment is a term commonly used to encompass the process of gathering and using evidence to guide improvements.

SACSCOC requires that an institution "identifies expected outcomes, assesses the extent to which it achieves these outcomes, and provides evidence of seeking improvement based on analysis of the results".

Program Goal

Goal

Goal 1

Program Goals are broad and overarching statements about the skills, knowledge, and dispositions students are expected to gain by the end of their course of study (big picture). They support the Institution's Mission/Goals.

Program Goal

To demonstrate planning skills related to the disaster management cycle

Pillar of Success Supported

High-Demand, Market-Driven Programs

Outcomes

Outcome 1

Outcomes are specific, measurable statements that reflect the broader goals.

Academic Programs are required to develop Student Learning Outcomes, which describe knowledge, skills, and values that students are expected to gain as a result of their educational experiences.

Academic Programs may also develop Operational Outcomes, which describe the level of performance of an operational aspect of a program or office (ex. graduation rates, retention, employment data).

Most goals have at least two outcomes measured.

Comments/Narrative

We are satisfied with the outcome. The discussion post was used for the fourth year, and the two of the students who received a lower scores did not complete the assignment. The third student who do not meet the standard performed better on future assignments are feedback was given. We had planned to revise this instrument for this measure, but the decision was made to keep the goal the same. The new plan is to overhaul the entire report for the 2023-2024 academic year to update outcomes, goals, and measurements.

Comments/Narrative

For the second consecutive year, this goal was met. The measure used for this outcome is the culmination of a semester's worth of learning and research on government continuity planning. Students spend multiple weeks focused on this assignment alone, which gives them the ability to showcase their knowledge on continuity planning. The final paper assignment used for assessment has been examined after each assessment, and it has continued to be determined to keep the assignment as is. We will examine student mistakes made for a need for clarifications or additional explanations.

Goal Summary

Goal Summary/Comments

As in the previous four years of assessment, we used the same three assessments for the three outcomes. We had all three outcomes met, which makes for two consecutive years. We are pleased with the progression we have seen towards this goal, but we did not make changes for next year's assessment as suggested by our previous report.

Changes Made/Proposed Related to Goal

It was suggested in last year's report that we would be overhauling our assessments for this report, but the implementation of the overhaul was delayed. For the coming year, we will continue examining all goals, outcomes, and assessments in the ongoing overhaul of the program assessment. The focus will be on the instruments used for assessment in order to ensure all outcomes and goals are measured in the most effective means.

This measure has been met for the third consecutive year, and it is the third consecutive year for the measure. As more data is collected over time, we will continue to improve our ability to recognize the trends and efficacy of this measure and its results. Currently, the measure seems to be one that we will continue to use going forward. Before the course is taught again, we will examine student mistakes made for a need for clarifications or additional explanations.

Comments/Narrative

As explained in last year's narrative, the goal was not met for the first time, and there was no discernible pattern to the reasoning for the unmet goal. The goal was met this year, which makes for two of the past three years with this result. The assessment measure will remain the same for the coming year, and trends in results will continue to be scrutinized. With additional data, the questions used can continue to be examined over time.

Goal Summary

Goal Summary/Comments

We have now continued to use the same assessments for consecutive years with a standardized course rotation. All three goals were met this year. The data trends on outcomes one and three have continued on a steady path, which is pleasing. Outcome two was not met last year, and there was no apparent reasoning for the results. The outcome was met this year, which was expected. We will continue to monitor the goals as we will have more standardized and accurate data annually with the course rotation being standardized for a few years.

Comments/Narrative

We are constantly seeking to enroll more students into our program. This is happening in a few different ways. First, as students enter and graduate our program, word of mouth from those students has been used to bring in a number of new students. This has been a continued trend since the program began. As an example, a graduate of our program discussed the program and benefits with her employer. The employer was admitted and has enrolled in our program for next year. Second, the university continues to maintain an individual in the Office of Admissions who is a direct contact for all graduate students. The College of Graduate and Online Studies has an individual who is responsible for graduate student recruitment. Having specialized employees working solely on graduate programs has streamlined the entire recruitment, application, and admissions process. Once admitted to the program, I contact the admitted student to congratulate them on their admission and begin a direct relationship with the student.

Third, we have actively used our university relations personnel to write stories and press releases on multiple alumni of our program to highlight success stories of students who have graduate from our program. These stories have been run on university media channels, as well as being picked up by local and regional media outlets.

Fourth, we have ensured our program is listed on FEMA's web-site for programs in Emergency Management for a more national focus, as it has been for a number of years now. Finally, we continue to use social media to spread the word about our program.

For the second year in a row, our program is at both its highest number of enrolled students annually and with the five-year rolling average. We plan to continue to build on our successes to maintain steady enrollment and growth in the program.

Comments/Narrative

Again, this outcome was met. The dip in degree completion from the pandemic seems to have corrected itself. We are continuing to enroll and graduate students to meet the standards as required. In the earlier years of the five years examined, the number of students eligible for graduation was below the threshold to fully meet this outcome. As enrollment has increased, our graduate numbers has increased. Our retention numbers have been very strong, so students are remaining in the program. This outcome is increasing with time and trends suggest it will remain that way.
