

Academic Program Assessment Report

Assessment is a term commonly used to encompass the process of gathering and using evidence to guide improvements.

SACSCOC requires that an institution "identifies expected outcomes, assesses the extent to which it achieves these outcomes, and provides evidence of seeking improvement based on analysis of the results".

Program Goal

Goal

Goal 1

Program Goals are broad and overarching statements about the skills, knowledge, and dispositions students are expected to gain by the end of their course of study (big picture). They support the Institution's Mission/Goals.

Program Goal

History students will graduate with the skills to conduct historical reasoning.

Pillar of Success Supported

High-Demand, Market-Driven Programs

Outcomes

Outcome 1

Outcomes are specific, measurable statements that reflect the broader goals.

Academic Programs are required to develop Student Learning Outcomes, which describe knowledge, skills, and values that students are expected to gain as a result of their educational experiences.

Academic Programs may also develop Operational Outcomes, which describe the level of performance of an operational aspect of a program or office (ex. graduation rates, retention, employment data).

Most goals have at least two outcomes measured.

What type of Outcome would you like to add?

Student Learning Outcome

Enter Outcome

History students will demonstrate the ability to critically evaluate secondary sources.

Timeframe for this Outcome

Academic Year 2022-2023

Performance Target for "Met"

Average score between 7 and 12 on the book review rubric. (7-9 = At Standard and 10-12 = Exceeds Standard)

Performance Target for "Partially Met"

Average score between 3 and 6 on the book review rubric. (3-6 = Developing)

Performance Target for "Not Met"

Average score of 2 or below on the book review rubric. (0-2 = Needs Attention)

Assessment Measure Used

HIST 201 The Historian's Craft is one of two core courses in the History major. The capstone assignment in this course is a book review, designed to measure students' ability to summarize and analyze a secondary source (in this case, a book). To assess students' ability to critically evaluate secondary sources, department faculty score students' book reviews based on six criteria that are critical to demonstrating historical reasoning. These categories include: Quality of Student Writing, Organization, Content Knowledge, Analysis of the Book's Argument, Analysis of the Writing, and the students' Conclusion.

Frequency of Assessment

Every semester that HIST 201 is taught, typically each fall semester.

Data Collected for this Timeframe (Results)

For the 20 students who completed HIST 201 in the Fall 2022.

Quality of Student Writing:	9.45
Organization:	9.4
Content Knowledge:	9.65
Analysis of the Book's Argument:	9.55
Analysis of the Book's Writing:	9.35
Conclusion:	8.95
Overall Average:	9.39

Score (Met=3, Partially Met=2, Not Met=1)

Overall Scores:

Met (7 - 12):	20 students
Partially Met (3-6):	0 Students
Not Met (0-2):	0 Student

Comments/Narrative

With an average score of 9.39/12, the student cohort's performance on the Book Review Met performance expectations in 2022-2023. The data indicates that students performed best in the category related to Content Knowledge. Student scores ranged from 8 to 11. The weakest category was Conclusion. The cohort performed better than in previous years on Analysis of the Book's Argument and Analysis of the Book's Writing.

History students will demonstrate the ability to evaluate a primary source.

Performance Target for "Met"

Average score between 7 and 12 on the primary source rubric. (7-9 = At Standard and 10-12 = Exceeds Standard)

Performance Target for "Partially Met"

Average score between 3 and 6 on the primary source rubric. (3-6 = Developing)

Performance Target for "Not Met"

Average score of 2 or below on the primary source rubric. (0-2 = Needs Attention)

Assessment Measure Used

The department assesses this goal in HIST 201, Students are assessed on their ability to evaluate primary sources, a skill that is necessary in historical research and writing. The assessment requires students address the following:
Sourcing: What is the author's perspective? • Why was it written? • When was it written? • Where was it written? • Is this source reliable?

Frequency of Assessment

Every semester that HIST 201 is taught, typically each Fall semester.

Contextualization: Student answers set the document in correct time and space. Addressing questions such as:

- What do you know about the time period in which this document was written ?

- What do you need to research in order to better understand this document?

Data Collected for this Timeframe (Results)

Score (Met=3, Partially Met=2, Not Met=1)

Each element of the rubric is scored on a 12-point scale. Scores for the three elements are added together for an Overall score that ranges from 36-0.

Sourcing:	8.05
Contextualization:	8.8
Close Analysis:	8.95
Overall Average		8.6

Overall Scores:

Met (7 - 12):	20 students
Partially Met (3-6):	0 Students
Not Met (0-2):	0 Students

Comments/Narrative

Twenty students completed the assessment during the Fall 2022 semester. The overall average on the assessment was a 8.6. Thus, this cohort of students earned an overall score of Met. One hundred percent of the cohort earned a score of Met on the Overall Score for the essay.

Evidence demonstrates that this cohort's strongest areas were contextualization 8.8/12 and close analysis 8.95/12. For the contextualization, 16/20 students earned scores of 8 or above and the overall average for this category was still At Standard or above. Thus the cohort earned a Met score for all three categories.

Goal Summary

Goal Summary/Comments

Historical Reasoning is a difficult skill to master for most undergraduate students. However, students in the Fall 2022 HIST 201 course demonstrated a strong grasp of the skills related to assessing primary and secondary sources. This result suggests that course has been effective. Data for HIST 499 is still less promising and indicates that students continue to have difficulty using the skills that they are taught in 200-level and 300-level courses.

Changes Made/Proposed Related to Goal

It is clear that students need more practice mastering these skills throughout their programs of study. Consequently we are currently reevaluating our curriculum to see what adjustments might be valuable.

Comments/Narrative

In 2022-2023, our department graduated 14 students. Of those 14, 100% completed internships, undergraduate research assistantships, or 100+ hours of clinical experience in teaching. Consequently, the department has Met the performance target for this Outcome.

Resources Needed to Meet/Sustain Results

Continued/increased support for faculty research and travel will allow faculty to maintain, build, and advance ties to institutions that may lead to student internship opportunities. Similarly, ensuring that faculty are able to adequately conduct their own research projects will provide more opportunities for students to work with faculty on those projects.

Explanation of How Resources Will Be Used

Funding for professional development allows faculty members to remain active members of the scholarly community and to remain engaged in such public activities as conferences, consulting work, and local presentations. Members of the department have worked with both local, regional, and national institutions in their professional development, in some cases leading to student internships with those institutions. Faculty have worked with the National Archives in Washington, D.C., the Benjamin Mays Site, the Upcountry Museum in Greenville, SC, the Museum of Greenwood, and Star Fort/Ninety-Six Historic Site, among others. Finally, several students have completed research internships with faculty working on their own books and other research projects.

Comments/Narrative

The department's 5-Year rolling average is 75.4. This number ranks the History BS/BA 10th out of 33 BS and or BA programs at Lander. According to the Program Productivity Chart, the History BS/BA's 5-year rolling average is the third highest ranking social science (behind Psychology and Criminology).

Department efforts, over the past academic year, to increase the rolling average included: The department chair contacted potential students who applied to become history majors. Second, the chair worked closely with transfer students and faculty with potential students during their campus tours.

In an effort to see continued growth in our 5-year rolling average, the department faculty will remain engaged in the recruitment and retention of history majors. Considering the significant number of students enrolled in our 100-level courses, see below, we plan to take time to explain to 100-level students what historians do and what students can do with a history degree. Hopefully, this will help students recognize what national data supports: that people who major in history easily find employment in a wide range of professions and that they earn competitive salaries.

Comments/Narrative

The data indicates that the 5-Year rolling average of completions has remained well above the minimum. One of the department's strengths is its History Education program which accounts for roughly half of all majors within the department. The ongoing demand for quality social studies teachers has helped our department remain stable in its graduation rates.

As noted in the narrative for Outcome 1, the department plans to keep up its efforts at recruitment of students. We are also working on retention. History retention rates are very strong and past Lander data demonstrates that history majors tend not to change majors and they graduate from our department. Our retention percentage is actually higher than many of the professional programs across campus. However, we want to maintain this successful level. To that end we are offering students opportunities to learn more about internships, employment, and campus engagement. We believe that getting majors together for informational and social occasions will help them feel connected and confident in their degree choice.
