

Visiting Assistant Professor of Biology

The Department of Biology at Lander University, a public comprehensive university in the Upstate region of South Carolina, comprises a cohesive and forward-thinking faculty who deliver an outcomes-based curriculum that has been carefully aligned with the goals of the AAAS Vision and Change initiative. Our department seeks to hire a visiting assistant professor to begin August 2025 with training to complement our current diverse range of expertise. Teaching responsibilities may include service courses for other majors (general biology, human anatomy, human physiology, and microbiology); introductory courses for biology or medical biology majors, and at least one upper-level majors' course. Salary determined by experience.

Contract period is nine months. Normal teaching load is 15 contact hours each semester.

Minimum qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in biological field and demonstrable aptitude for teaching biology at the college level. Excellent oral and written communication skills are essential.

Application letters should explicitly address the qualifications and desired aptitudes outlined above. Send application letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching philosophy; copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts; and the names, addresses, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers of three references in Word or PDF format to Dr. Jennifer Yates, Dean, College of Science and Mathematics at jyates1@lander.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.
