According to your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) you (or your parents) indicated the marital status as “married – but separated” or “divorced or separated”. The U.S. Department of Education requires Lander University to verify that a student is (parents are) in fact separated or divorced. Before your eligibility for federal and state financial assistance can be determined, this form must be completed and returned with the required documents. If you do not provide ALL necessary documents, your file will be placed on hold.

Definitions of Marital Statuses:

“Married or Remarried” doesn’t include parents who are living together who aren’t otherwise legally married unless your parents’ state of legal residence recognizes their relationship as a common law marriage. Additionally, if one of your parents is widowed or divorced and has remarried, choose “Married or Remarried” and answer the questions about that parent and your stepparent.

For FAFSA purposes, “Separated” includes a married couple who is considered legally separated by a state, or if the couple is legally married but has chosen to live separate lives, including living in separate households, as though they weren’t married. If your parents are separated but living together, select “Married or Remarried,” not “Divorced or Separated.”

Note: When two married persons live as a married couple but are separated by physical distance or have separate households, they’re considered married for FAFSA purposes.

Unmarried persons. You are considered unmarried for the whole year if, on the last day of your tax year, you are either:

- Unmarried, or
- Legally separated from your spouse under a divorce or separate maintenance decree. State law governs whether you are married or legally separated under a divorce or separate maintenance decree.

Divorced persons. If you are divorced under a final decree by the last day of the year, you are considered unmarried for the whole year.

Divorce and remarriage. If you obtain a divorce for the sole purpose of filing tax returns as unmarried individuals, and at the time of divorce you intend to and do, in fact, remarry each other in the next tax year, you and your spouse must file as married individuals in both years.
