Criminology Major

The purpose of the Criminology major is to produce students who can use their knowledge for successful careers related to law, law enforcement (corrections, policing, etc.), criminology, government service, homeland security, or social service agencies. The major seeks to create critical thinkers who can analyze the subject of security from multiple perspectives and within local, state, national, and international contexts.

Goals and Objectives:

Criminology majors will:
1. demonstrate knowledge and understanding of concepts, processes, and institutions;
2. demonstrate the ability to think critically;
3. demonstrate written and oral communication skills; and
4. demonstrate the ability to apply concepts and theories.

The Criminology curriculum creates bridges to other disciplines, such as Political Science and Sociology, in order to better prepare students for careers related to areas of law, social services, and government service. The major enables students to better understand governmental institutions, law, and social variables that shape society is imperative for future professionals. The curriculum exposes students to the relevant subjects shaping criminology such as intergovernmental relations, risk assessment, and homeland security. Upper-level core classes in the major include a research methods course, a course in criminological theory, an Internship to build students’ application skills and career readiness, and a final capstone course.

CRIM 101 Introduction to Criminology and Criminal Justice should be taken during the first semester after declaring a criminology major. SOCI 101 and POLS 101 are also required foundational courses to move forward to 200-level criminology courses. The major requires that students have a certain number of political science courses (in law or public administration), or sociology courses, and a security course from a list of options. CRIM 499, the capstone experience, should be taken the semester of or just before graduation.

Criminal Justice Minor

The minor in criminal justice is designed to complement students with a major in any discipline other than Criminology in order to broaden and enhance career opportunities. This minor will provide students with knowledge and understanding of the various areas within the criminal justice system and of criminology. Students pursuing this minor may seek employment with the various federal, state, or local governmental or social service agencies, which deal with prevention programs for youth and/or at-risk youth, and/or working with populations having criminal behaviors.

Prerequisites for courses in this minor include both CRIM 101: Introduction to Criminology and Criminal Justice and POLS 101: American National Government. Some courses in the minor may have additional prerequisites.

One (1) course from the following: 3
- CRIM 210: Corrections, Probation, and Parole
- CRIM 250: Community Relations and Policing

Three (3) courses from the following: 9
- CRIM 309: Juvenile Delinquency
- CRIM 350: Ethics in Criminology and Criminal Justice
- CRIM 371: Special Topics in Criminology and Criminal Justice
- CRIM 390: Current Policy Issues in Criminology
- CRIM 403: Criminological Theory
One (1) course from the following:

- POLS 217: Introduction to Public Administration
- POLS 318: Public Budgeting
- POLS 311: Constitutional Law
- POLS 312: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties
- POLS 313: Judicial Process
- POLS 386: State and Local Government
- POLS 391: Homeland Security

TOTAL 15

In order to complete the minor, students must have a 2.0 GPA in courses within the minor.

International Studies Major

The BA in International Studies prepares graduates to work in government agencies, private businesses, non-profit organizations, or pursue a career with the U.S. military or diplomatic corps and have the necessary skills to succeed. The eleven-course curriculum includes five core courses in History (HIST), Political Science (POLS), and specially designated International Studies (INTL) courses. Beyond the core courses, majors will take courses in the categories of Language, Culture, and Religion; Policy and Practice; and Conflict and Cooperation to ensure that students are exposed to the actors and processes of international studies in a globalized world. At least one policy course is required and application skills are a key objective, thus academic and experiential learning about international studies is key to this program.

As a distinctive feature of the BA in International Studies, all majors must also choose at least one of the following approved pathways as part of their program of study:

- a semester studying abroad in a university-approved program
- a study tour led by a Lander faculty member
- an internship (either HIST 490 or POLS 490) focusing on international studies
- 200-level foreign language fluency (excluding native speakers)

International Studies Minor

The objective of the minor in international studies is to learn about the contemporary world (i.e., post-1900) and the relationship of the United States to the world. Students will be exposed to major international issues and challenges as well as to cross-cultural and cross-disciplinary perspectives. Students pursuing the minor are encouraged to participate in Lander’s approved study abroad programs, although this is not a requirement for completion of the minor.

This minor is open to all students except those completing the B.A. in International Studies. Students should consult the Catalog regarding any prerequisites for the courses in this minor.

| Courses from chosen area, either A or B | 9 |
| Courses from the other two areas | 9 |
| TOTAL | 18 credit hours |

Students must concentrate their coursework in either history or political science. Students must earn a grade of “C” or better in all courses in the minor.

Area A. History

HIST 122: World Civilization since 1600
HIST 306: Latin America
HIST 307: Vietnam
HIST 322: African History and Culture
HIST 343: Modern Britain
HIST 347: The United States and the Cold War, 1945-1991
HIST 365: Religion and Warfare
HIST 370: Modern East Asia
HIST 375: Modern China
HIST 377: Modern Korea
HIST 383: Warfare Through the Ages
HIST 391: America as a Major World Power: U.S. Foreign Relations, 1912-Present

Special topics courses (HIST 371) are also acceptable if the contemporary age (1900-present) is the primary focus of appropriate course content.

Area B. Political Science

POLS 103: Introduction to World Politics
POLS 303: International Relations
POLS 305: European Politics
POLS 325: International Conflict and Terrorism
POLS 366: International Law
POLS 390: The Politics of Globalization
POLS 445: American Foreign Policy

Special topics courses (POLS 361) and internships with an international focus (POLS 490) are also acceptable if the contemporary age (1900-present) is the primary focus of appropriate course content.

Area C. Approved Electives and Study Abroad

Students may count a variety of electives toward the minor in international studies. This includes courses taken at Lander as well as through the Lander-approved study abroad programs.

The following Lander courses are pre-approved for the minor:
- BA 390: International Business
- ES 314: Cultural Perspectives of Global Climate Change
- INTL 390: The Politics of Globalization (if not taken in the Political Science category)
- INTL 499: Capstone Seminar
- NURS 310: Cultural Perspectives in Global Health
- RELI 301: Religious Cultures of the World
- SOCI 377: Special Topics (if appropriate course content is covered)

Students are strongly encouraged to study abroad and may count up to nine hours of coursework taken through Lander-approved programs, such as at the University of Winchester in the United Kingdom. Faculty must approve all coursework taken in study abroad programs.

In order to complete the minor, students must have a 2.0 GPA in courses within the minor.

See 4-year major guides for recommended order in which to take courses
Paralegal Studies Major

The BS in Paralegal Studies is an excellent option for anyone wishing for a successful career as a paralegal – in a business, law firm or government agency. The curriculum will also prepare a student for graduate education — including, but not limited to, law school. Students who major in Paralegal Studies will find professional success as a paralegal in the curriculum that develops their research, writing and critical thinking skills. The major includes seven core classes in the area of law as well as in business, accounting, ethics and a legal research capstone to the major. The electives are in various areas of legal studies and technical writing.

Given the special nature of this program, an associate's degree in Paralegal is preferred. A minimum of 12 hours of LEG coursework from an associate's degree program in Paralegal is required for admission. Of these 12 hours of LEG coursework, recommended courses are Introduction to Law and Ethics, Legal Writing, and Legal Bibliography or Research at the 100- or 200-level.

Students must earn a C or better for coursework to be transferred into Lander, and a maximum of 64 hours of coursework can be transferred into Lander from a regionally accredited institution that offers two-year degrees.

Note: This course is not intended for Lander undergraduates.

Political Science Major

Political science focuses on the structure, process, and outcomes of politics and government. The major includes courses in the areas of American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy, methodology, public administration, public policy, and public law.

Goals and Objectives:

Political science majors will:

1. demonstrate knowledge in the areas of the discipline;
2. demonstrate political analysis skills; and
3. demonstrate skills essential for success in careers related to political science.

Students graduating from Lander University with a BS in political science will be equipped to undertake post-graduate professional study in political science, public administration, or related areas of study.

All students majoring in political science must successfully complete a core of nine courses. POLS 101 American National Government and POLS 103 Introduction to World Politics should be taken in the first semester or two after declaring a political science major. POLS 200 Introduction to Political Science should be taken after POLS 101 and 103 and before undertaking upper-level political science courses. POLS 499 Capstone Seminar should be taken shortly before graduation.

Students majoring in political science are encouraged to take internships because they provide a real familiarity with employment in the public sector and with contacts for post-baccalaureate career development. Normally students may receive credit for no more than nine credit hours, but twelve hours of internship credit can be awarded for off-campus experiences such as a government internship in Washington, D.C. or in a state capital, or full-time activity in a political campaign. Only six hours of credit in internships may count toward fulfillment of major requirements.

Students majoring in political science may choose one of two different degree programs (see below).

BS in Political Science

Students wishing to pursue careers in government, the law, public administration, research and policy analysis, politics and campaigning, or other professions where social science skills are necessary should pursue the Bachelor of Science degree. See program requirements for courses.

BS in Political Science - Public Administration Emphasis

Lander offers a political science major with a public administration emphasis for students interested in employment with in local, state, or federal government, or non-profit employment. The emphasis will also prepare students to pursue the Master’s Degree in Public Administration, the professional degree for government and non-profit administration. See program requirements for courses.

Homeland Security Minor

The Homeland Security Minor is intended for students who are considering a career working in government or nongovernmental arenas related to homeland security. Careers within the diplomatic corps; emergency management; the intelligence community; law enforcement at local, state, or national levels; military service; public administration; or private businesses focused on security are some areas with jobs related to homeland security.

The minor provides a breadth of coverage of homeland security and security studies. Beyond the required introductory course, students in the minor are provided an opportunity to take courses that add to understanding intergovernmental relations, national security history, the sociological aspects of security, and U.S. defense policy and intelligence. The minor offers coursework on contemporary topics such as cybersecurity, emergency management, and terrorism and aspects of criminology in order to build skills in policy analysis. As a whole, the minor enables students to think about how governments and non-governmental actors respond to new levels of securitization in a globalized world.

Students should consult the Catalog regarding prerequisites for the courses listed in this minor.
The homeland security minor consists of 18 credit hours distributed as follows:

Core Course
POLS 250: Introduction to Homeland Security 3

Choose 5 courses from the following: 15
- CIS 243: Cybersecurity
- CRIM 390: Current Policy Issues in Criminology (where relevant)
- HIST 347: The United States and the Cold War, 1945-1991
- HIST 391: America as a Major World Power: U.S. Foreign Relations 1912-present

- POLS 379: Emergency Management
- POLS 391: Homeland Security
- POLS 445: American Foreign Policy
- SOCI 397: Sociology of Risk

TOTAL 18 credit hours

In order to complete the minor, students must have a 2.0 GPA in courses within the minor.

Non-Profit Management Minor

The minor in non-profit management seeks to prepare students for careers with a non-profit organization or local, state, or federal governmental agency that provides social services to a specific population. Given that non-profit organizations provide similar services as some governmental agencies and seek funding through government grants, there is much interaction between governmental agencies and non-governmental organizations or non-profits, some of which are charitable institutions. The minor’s curriculum seeks to make students familiar with governmental structure and regulations, the policy-making process within government and non-profits, and social welfare policies of serving populations in need.

Non-profit management has become a popular specialization within several disciplines and links to many career paths, so this minor may be valuable for students considering graduate school programs such as a master’s degree in public administration (M.P.A.), master’s degree in social work (M.S.W.), or a graduate degree in human services.

Prerequisites for the minor’s coursework include POLS 101 or SOCI 101. In addition to these prerequisites, PSYC 101 or PSYC 102 is required as a prerequisite for SOCI 317.

A minor in non-profit management consists of 18 credit hours distributed as follows:
- POLS 217: Introduction to Public Administration 3
- POLS 318: Public Budgeting 3
- POLS 386: State and Local Government 3
- SOCI 314: Social Welfare Policies and Programs 3
- SOCI 315: Non-Profit Organizations 3
- SOCI 317: Case Management 3

TOTAL 18 credit hours

In order to complete the minor, students must have a 2.0 GPA in courses within the minor.

Political Science Minor

The Political Science Minor is intended for students who are interested in politics or considering a career in campaigning and electoral politics, government service, governmental relations (for a private business or non-profit organization), law, or a field that connects with public service such as the diplomatic corps, homeland security, intelligence, law enforcement, military service, or public administration.

The minor provides flexibility so that students can take courses across many subfields of the discipline or focus coursework in one or more subfields of political science such as American politics, comparative politics, international relations, law and judicial politics, or public administration and policy. This minor is not open to a student majoring in political science.

The minor consists of 15 credit hours distributed as follows:

- POLS 101: American National Government 3
- POLS 103: Introduction to World Politics 3
- Three POLS electives (200-level or above) 9
- TOTAL 15

In order to complete the minor, students must have a 2.0 GPA in courses within the minor.

Pre-Law Minor

The pre-law minor has three groups of courses. Students must take both courses in the first group (Group A), two of the courses in the second group (Group B), and two of the courses in the third group (Group C). The first group consists of courses providing the most important skills a law student or lawyer needs. The second group consists of courses providing background knowledge helpful for law students or lawyers. The third group consists of the law courses offered at the undergraduate level.

The pre-law minor consists of 18 credit hours with the following distribution:

- Group A 6
  - Students must take both of the following:
    - PHIL 103: Introduction to Logic
    - SPCH 101: Speech Fundamentals
- Group B 6
  - Students must choose 2 of the following:
    - HIST 111: U.S. History to 1877
    - HIST 112: U.S. History since 1877
    - PHIL 302: Ethics
    - POLS 101: American National Government
- Group C 6
  - Students must choose 2 of the following:
    - BA 251: Legal Environment of Business
    - POLS 308: Law, Politics, and Society
    - POLS 311: Constitutional Law
    - POLS 312: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties
    - POLS 313: Judicial Process
    - POLS 366: International Law
- TOTAL 18

In order to complete the minor, students must have a 2.0 GPA in courses within the minor.

Course Recommendations for Pre-Law

The American Bar Association “. . .does not recommend any particular group of undergraduate majors, or courses that should be taken by those wishing to prepare for legal education; developing such a list is neither possible nor desirable. The law is too multifaceted, and the human mind too adaptable, to permit such a linear approach to preparing for law school or the practice of law. Nonetheless, there are important skills and values, and significant bodies of knowledge, that can be acquired prior to law school and that will provide a sound foundation for a sophisticated legal education.”

The American Bar Association’s section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar has encouraged the following skills and values as preparation for a good law school experience:

- Analytic and Problem Solving Skills
- Critical Reading Abilities
- Writing Skills
Public Administration Minor

The public administration minor provides education in public policy or public service management for students who major in disciplines other than political science. This minor provides background for students wishing to work in government, non-profit organizations, or pursue a master’s degree in public administration (M.P.A.).

After the core courses, students are given flexibility in terms of courses that address areas of budgeting, homeland security, emergency management, public policy, public relations, and non-profit organizations. Thus, courses address many contemporary topics and provide students with the skills in policy analysis.

The 18 credit hours of minor requirements are:

Core Classes
- POLS 101: American National Government
- POLS 217: Introduction to Public Administration
- POLS 386: State and Local Government

Electives (choose 9 credit hours from the following)

Sociology Major

Sociology is the science of the human condition, the study of society, and the analysis of social relations. While a major in sociology is useful regardless of career choice, Lander’s program also prepares students for a variety of more specialized occupational opportunities in fields such as non-profit organizations, social work, corrections, law enforcement, survey research, policy analysis, vocational guidance, counseling, human services, personnel management in industry, and public health.

The program is also designed to help the highly successful student in the pursuit of graduate work, not only in sociology but in allied fields such as anthropology, criminology, law, education, history, social work, political science, public health, journalism, communications, and public administration.

Some students decide to major in sociology as freshmen, while others switch their major to sociology in the midst of their college career. After completing SOCI 101, students will need at least two years of study to finish their major, as there are several sets of sequence courses. Students minoring in sociology will need at least one year of study to finish their coursework.

Undergraduate majors in sociology will:
1. demonstrate disciplinary knowledge in the field of sociology,
2. demonstrate the ability to think analytically, and
3. demonstrate the ability to apply sociological theory.

To ensure competency in the basic sociological skills, a sociology major must earn at least a “C” in SOCI 101, SOCI 202, SOCI 398, and SOCI 399, and have an average GPA of 2.0 in sociology courses taken.

Sociology Minor

Sociology is an important discipline of study regardless of career choice. It is particularly useful for persons who are considering careers in the fields of human services, social services, and public service but also beneficial for those interested in advertising and marketing. Thus, the study of social groups connects to careers in non-profit organizations, government agencies, and private businesses.

Students not wishing to major in sociology might wish to make it their minor. This minor is not open to a student majoring in sociology.

A minor in sociology consists of 15 semester hours distributed as follows:

- SOCI 101: Introduction to Sociology 3
- SOCI 202: Social Problems 3
- SOCI 398: Methods of Social Research 3
- SOCI 399: Sociological Theory 3
- Sociology Elective (300-level or above) 3
- TOTAL 15 credit hours

To ensure competency in the basic sociological skills and complete the minor, a student must earn at least a “C” in all courses in this minor. Students must also pass MATH 211 with a “C” or better before enrolling in SOCI 398.
