

Lecturer of Biology

The Department of Biology at Lander University, a public comprehensive university in the Upstate region of South Carolina, comprises a cohesive and forward-thinking faculty who deliver an outcomes-based curriculum that has been carefully aligned with the goals of the AAAS Vision and Change initiative. This modern approach involves not only our major programs but also courses for non-majors as well.

Our department is poised to fill a full-time, non-tenure-track position with responsibilities in both the classroom and laboratory. The ideal candidate will share our passion for student-centered learning and innovative teaching practices that are outcomes based. Teaching responsibilities will primarily be human anatomy lectures and lab but may extend to physiology and general biology.

Minimum qualifications: Applicants must have at least a Master's degree in the biological sciences and demonstrable aptitude for teaching biology at the college level. Excellent oral and written communication skills are necessary.

Application letters should explicitly address the qualifications and desired aptitudes outlined above.

Send application letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching philosophy; copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts; and the names, addresses, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers of three references to:

Application materials may be sent via e-mail to Ms. Tammie Mallory at tmallory@lander.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Diversity or Affirmative Action Statement: Lander University is a tobacco-free campus. All final candidates are subject to successfully completing background requirements. Lander University is committed to equal opportunity employment and being an employer of choice.

Lander believes that corresponding differences within the faculty and staff, whether based on ethnicity, race, gender, religion, age, or other experiences, are tremendous assets to the role of Lander as an educational institution and within the community, region, and state. Moreover, Lander is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. As a result, it is the policy and commitment of Lander that it will not discriminate based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability or other protected characteristics. AA / EOE / ADA / Title IX
